

Donatella Della Ratta is a scholar, writer, performer and curator specializing in digital media and networked technologies with a focus on the Arab region. She is Associate Professor at John Cabot University, Rome. Prior to this she managed the Arabic speaking community for the international organisation Creative Commons from 2007-2013. She is author of Shooting a Revolution: Visual Media and Warfare in Syria (Pluto Press, 2018), co-editor of The Arab Archive: Mediated Memories and Digital Flows (INC, 2020), and co-founder and board member of the website SyriaUntold.

Jeff Deutch is a researcher with Syrian Archive, where he develops workflows and methodologies for open-source investigations. His research interests include issues of data politics, privacy, and digital security as they pertain to marginalisation and social exclusion. Deutch is a fellow at the Centre for Internet and Human Rights and holds a PhD from Humboldt-University in Berlin.

Nishant Shah is Director of Research and Prof. Aesthetics and Cultures of Technology at ArtEZ University of the Arts, The Netherlands. He is a faculty associate at the Berkman-Klein Centre for Internet & Society, Harvard University; a knowledge partner on the global Art-Science Technology Digital Earth Fellowship, and a mentor on the Feminist Internet Research Network. His book Really Fake is out in May 2021 with University of Minnesota Press, looks at digital infrastructures, collectives and subjectivities.

Heba Y. Amin is a multimedia artist and Professor of Fine Art at Stuttgart State Academy of Art and Design.

Anthony Downey is Professor of Visual Culture in the Middle East and North Africa (Birmingham City University).